5.3: Social Impact of Extension Activities:

The curricular activities are insufficient to impart value education and personality development. Involvement in extension activities is a way to educate moral and social values in order to nourish the personalities of students and to lay a positive impact on the society. The extension programs such as NCC, NSS, Rovers & Rangers, subject societies and clubs and sports activities make the involvement of almost every student. The students are made to be the part of at least one extension activity every year by giving a column in admission form. The students take part in several camps, campaigns, drives and awareness under these extension activities and utilize the learned values to serve the society throughout their life. Student's involvement in these activities boosted up social and moral values like truthfulness, honesty, purity, dedication, self-discipline, social responsibilities, selfless services and many more through motivation, sensitization, awareness, active participation, and peer learning.

The subject societies and extension programs also organize cultural activities every year and the students' active participation results in the form of enhanced presentation and performing skills along with personality traits such as teamwork, leadership qualities, Self-confidence, enthusiasm, tolerance and to live in harmony. Following extension activities have been observed in this college:

1. Winter Cloth Collection and Distribution : The SOCH literary society of the college as true to its name works very hard for creative harmony by involving the student members of the college in distinctive activities to adopt a number of innovative ideas. "Winter Cloth Collection and Distribution" is one of the ideas adopted in the college by the literature society. The members of the society first seek the permission from the Principal and after that a box was installed to collect winter clothes on 6th December 2023 in the campus and the timing to drop the clothes was from 10:00 am to 03:00 pm. A number of faculty members and students of college donated a lot of winter clothes. This routine was followed continuously till 22 December 2023 and after that the members of society visited the nearby slum areas and distributed the winter clothes among needy people.
