Description Electronic transport through asymmetric parallel coupled quantum dot system hybridized between normal leads has been investigated theoretically in the Coulomb blockade regime by using Non-Equilibrium Green Function formalism. A new decoupling scheme proposed by Rabani and his co-workers has been adopted to close the chain of higher order Green's functions appearing in the equations of motion. For resonant tunneling case; the calculations of current and differential conductance have been presented during transition of coupled quantum dot system from series to symmetric parallel configuration. It has been found that during this transition, increase in current and differential conductance of the system occurs. Furthermore, clear signatures of negative differential conductance and negative current appear in series case, both of which disappear when topology of system is tuned to asymmetric parallel ...

Abstract

Electronic transport through asymmetrically parallel coupled quantum dot system hybridized between conventional superconducting leads has been investigated theoretically in the Coulomb blockade regime by using Non-Equilibrium Green Function formalism. For resonant Cooper pair tunneling, the Andreev transmission probability and Josephson supercurrent ( $I - V$  characteristics) have been presented for each configuration of coupled quantum dot system and for transition of coupled quantum dot system from series to symmetric parallel configuration. Superconducting order parameter regulates the Josephson Cooper pair tunneling in such a way that it initially enhances and then suppresses the resonant Cooper pair tunneling when system is tuned from series to symmetric parallel configuration. Furthermore, it has been found that the Fano effect, reported in asymmetric parallel configuration of CQD system, gets completely suppressed by Andreev tunneling for a particular value of superconducting order parameter and lead-dot coupling strength.

To honour womanhood, two days workshop was arranged. This workshop was organized by the Women's Grievance & Redressal Cell under the chairmanship of Professor P.C.R. Negi Principal GC Rampur. The main objective of this workshop was to create awareness regarding gender equality. The subject of the discussion for the event were:

1. Constitutional Rights of Women in India

2. Role of Yoga in Mental and Physical Health of Women

Professor Ajay Shrivastav, Department of Journalism and Mass Communication from Himachal Pradesh University- Shimla, renowned human rights activist was the keynote speaker for the event. He elucidated that in the eyes of the constitution every citizen of the nation is treated equally but there are few stereotypes holding us back from a better future where there is no gender discrimination and equality is persistent. It is important that we break these stereotypes so that women can fulfil their potential. He further gave an example of how there is discrimination between a son and a daughter in most of the families. He shared many staggering truths of the society with a few real life stories which left the audience bewildered. He concluded by sharing his hopes from the youth and added that it is now the responsibility of the young generation to overcome these challenges.

Yogacharya Vinod Sharma, PhD Scholar H.P.U. acquainted the students with the importance of Yoga for mental and physical health of women. Feeling of well being is fundamental to overall health of an individual. Healthy well being is the need of the hour for every individual as it helps them to overcome difficulties, achieve goals and also act as a catalyst in the overall development of the nation.

Three visually and physically impaired PhD Scholars from HPU- Muskan Negi, Anjana Thakur and Pratibha Thakur were brave enough to share their journey and the problems they faced along the way with the audience. Their perseverance and determination was truly an inspiration for all the students.

Principal Prof. P.C.R. Negi concluded the event by emphasizing on the importance of gender equality. He further stated that change needs to begin at home and equal opportunities should be given to both daughter and son.

उन्होंने कहा कि दिव्यांग बच्चों के प्रति समाज के हर वर्ग का हमेशा नकारात्मक रवैया रहता है। उन्होंने बताया कि उन्हें भी समाज में कई जगह पर भेदभाव का सामना करना पड़ा लेकिन उन्होंने हिम्मत नहीं हारी और अपने मुकाम को हासिल किया। प्रतिभा ठाकुर ने बताया कि अगर महिलाएं सरासरी बनना चाहती हैं तो आर्थिक और मानसिक रूप से सशक्त बनना होगा। महिला और पुरुष में बराबरी होना जरूरी है।

पुरुषों से निवेदन किया कि महिलाओं का हमेशा सम्मान करें। छात्रा अंजना ने बताया कि दिव्यांगों के प्रति लोगों को अपनी सोच में बदलाव लाना होगा। दिव्यांग भी अपने सपने पूरा कर सकते हैं।

FEEDBACK ANALYSIS

The event was a great successful inspite of few technical problems and network issue that we people face during the event. 60-70 participants who were either the faculty members, lab. Staff or students who attended the event offline were greatly influence and appreciated the various green method that can be used during performing the quantitative and qualitative analysis in the chemistry. As these methods of doing practical are very beneficial in term of chemical consumption, in term of generation of waste products and in term of time require to complete the practical. The alternate method for the determination of melting point and the boiling point were very much appreciated by the participants specially the faculty members and the lab staff as it is much simpler, easier and safer one. The safety measures and fist aids in the form or chart in the laboratory bearing all the contact numbers for the emergency cases were much appreciated by the visitors.

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

REPORT

Date: 15-03-2023

International Women's Day was celebrated at G.H. Pant Memorial College, Rampur on 15th March, 2023. The theme for this year was DigitALL: Innovation and Technology for Gender Equality. International Women's Day is celebrated every year on 8th March but due to Holi celebrations and local holiday for Fag Mela we celebrated this occasion on 15th March. The Chief Guest for the program was College Principal Prof. P.C.R. Negi and the key note speaker was Dr. Rajan Devi Negi. The Chief Guest addressed the gathering by discussing the role of providing equal opportunities for both men and women. He added that gender equality is possible only when parents do not discriminate among their children and provide equal opportunities for them to grow. A nation needs to value every gender equally to progress at the right place. A society attains better development in all aspects when every individual's dream of equal rights and equal access to resources is fulfilled.

The keynote speaker Dr. Rajan Devi Negi in her speech emphasised a great deal on the role of education and stated that as the level of education increases, awareness will increase in the society and this gap of inequality will reduce. Empowering women is not just a goal, its a necessity. Each one of us should work towards creating a world where every woman can thrive.

The convener of The Women Grievance & Redressal Cell, Prof. Gita Sharma shed some light on this year's theme for International Women's Day which is DigitALL: Innovation and Technology for Gender Equality. In her speech she talked about the various objectives of Women's Day. The digital age is creating new and unprecedented opportunities to improve the lives of women and girls around the world. Digital technologies are rapidly transforming all spheres of life and establishing new entrance points and platforms for historically marginalised groups.

The main objective is to recognize the women and girls who are contributing to the advancement of transformative technology and digital education. Another motive is to draw attention to gender discrimination, violence and abuse against women. Also how imperative it has become to put an end to all this abuse against women.

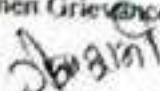

An educational slideshow depicting the Technological changes throughout the century in Indian Cinema was presented by Prof. Gita Sharma. The audience went on a cinematic journey starting from 1913 and learnt about the cultural changes throughout the time span of 110 years.

Poetry recitation and slogan writing competitions were also organized in which students and gender champions volunteered. This event was a success because of the contribution of Prof. Rajesh Negi, Prof. Gopichand Negi, Prof. Priyanka Thakur, Prof. Sher Singh Negi, Prof. Narender Saini, Prof. Norbu Zongmo, Prof. Anuradha, Prof. Amit Shroshtha, Dr. Satpal Khund and Prof. Gaurav.

The program turned out to be a great learning experience for all those who attended.

रामपुर बुधवार। लड़का तो या लड़की सभी को आगे बढ़ने के लिए शिक्षा ग्रहण करने के लिए समान अवसर मिलने चाहिए। अगर हम अंकड़ों पर नजर डालें तो तकनीकी शिक्षा के क्षेत्र में लड़कियों को वे मौके नहीं मिलते, जो लड़कों को मिलते हैं।

इसके लिए हम सभी का यह दायित्व बनता है कि हम सभी लड़के और लड़कियों को समान अवसर मुहैया करवाएं। जो हमारी मूल शिक्षा है, उसे मजबूत करें, तकनीकी शिक्षा से पहले बेसिक शिक्षा का आधार मजबूत होना जरूरी है। यह बात बुधवार को पौडी कॉलेज रामपुर में आयोजित कार्यक्रम में प्रध्यापिका श्री पौडीआर नेगी ने कही।

Morphometric characteristics of tributary junction alluvial fans in two trans Himalayan river basins: A comparative study

Abstract Morphometric characteristics of landforms not only reflect the relative stage of their development, but also act as objective method of comparing landforms of different regions. Studies dealing with characteristics of tributary junction fans are rather lesser in number, and comparative studies dealing with more than one basin are even lesser. Therefore, this work is an attempt to compare morphometric characteristics of two trans-Himalayan river basins namely, Parechu and Lingti. Trans-Himalayan region is conducive for the study of tributary junction fans because here these landforms are least disturbed as well as devoid of vegetation. Source of data for this work was a combination of topographical maps, DEM, Google Earth and Bhuvan imageries of study area as well as field survey. Fan area ( $A_f$ ), basin area ( $A_b$ ), fan slope ( $S_f$ ), Melton's ruggedness number for contributing basin ( $M$ ) and other parameters were calculated for each fan-basin, and conventional regression analyses were performed to find degree of correlation between different parameters. Results of this study reveal that tributary junction fans of Lingti valley are steeper and smaller in comparison to their counterparts of Parechu valley. However, for both the basins, there exists an isometric relationship between fan-slope ( $S_f$ ) and Melton's ruggedness number ( $M$ ). Study suggests that confinement offered by the topography is the most important reason for difference in fan characteristics. Fans situated at narrow and confined sites are smaller and steeper, whereas, fans situated at unconfined and open sites are larger in size and gentler in slope.

Description Electronic transport through asymmetric parallel coupled quantum dot system hybridized between normal leads has been investigated theoretically in the Coulomb blockade regime by using Non-Equilibrium Green Function formalism. A new decoupling scheme proposed by Rabani and his co-workers has been adopted to close the chain of higher order Green's functions appearing in the equations of motion. For resonant tunneling case; the calculations of current and differential conductance have been presented during transition of coupled quantum dot system from series to symmetric parallel configuration. It has been found that during this transition, increase in current and differential conductance of the system occurs. Furthermore, clear signatures of negative differential conductance and negative current appear in series case, both of which disappear when topology of system is tuned to asymmetric parallel ...

Abstract

Electronic transport through asymmetrically parallel coupled quantum dot system hybridized between conventional superconducting leads has been investigated theoretically in the Coulomb blockade regime by using Non-Equilibrium Green Function formalism. For resonant Cooper pair tunneling, the Andreev transmission probability and Josephson supercurrent ( $I - V$  characteristics) have been presented for each configuration of coupled quantum dot system and for transition of coupled quantum dot system from series to symmetric parallel configuration. Superconducting order parameter regulates the Josephson Cooper pair tunneling in such a way that it initially enhances and then suppresses the resonant Cooper pair tunneling when system is tuned from series to symmetric parallel configuration. Furthermore, it has been found that the Fano effect, reported in asymmetric parallel configuration of CQD system, gets completely suppressed by Andreev tunneling for a particular value of superconducting order parameter and lead-dot coupling strength.

ABSTRACT

Asoka was one of the greatest Kings of the world. During his reign, he made many proclamations, which are well known as "Edicts of the Asoka". His royal proclamations are engraved on rocks and stone pillars. Though, he calls these "Dhamma Lipi" we can see many traces of human rights in these. Some of these proclamations are about the right behavior towards elders, younger, slaves, and war prisoners. These proclamations are one of the earliest recorded documents on Humanistic values. My article revolves around these edicts and their importance in the present era.

Asoka the third emperor of the Mauryan Dynasty ruled India from his capital at Pataliputra (Nowadays Patna, in Bihar). He ruled from c. 268 BCE to c. 232 BCE. He was the son of Bindusara and grandson of the first Mauryan Emperor Chandragupta Maurya. The sources of information about his reign are mainly Buddhist texts and his edicts. Emperor Asoka is well known for his life-changing event of the Kalinga War in c. 260 BCE. The remorse he feels after this war is mentioned in his Rock Edicts thirteen. In this war one hundred and fifty thousand men were carried away, one hundred thousand men were slain and nearly the same number died.<sup>1</sup> After this war, he leaves the course of the war and adopts the course of dharma.

The inscriptions of Asoka have been found in various parts of India except for the extreme south and northeast. These are written on rocks, pillars, and cave walls. These inscriptions are found in Prayagraj, Bairat, Barabar, Brahmagiri, Topara and Meerut (Nowadays in Delhi), Dhauli, Gavimath, Jirnar, Gujarra, Jating Rameshwar, Jaugara, Kalsi, Lauriya-Airaj, Lauriya-Nandangarh, Lumbini, Mansehra, Maski, Neegalisagar, Palkigundu, Rajula-Mandagiri, Rampurva, Rupnath, Sahasram, Sanchi, Sarnath, Shahbazgarhi, Siddhapura, Sopara, and Yerraguddi.<sup>2</sup>

Abstract

Streams and rivers are the major source of drinking water and irrigation in many developing countries. Stream health is a major criterion and regulator of the health of its dependents (invertebrates, aquatic flora, fishes, animals, and humans). For the sustenance of a balanced ecosystem, a mutual existence between flora and fauna along with other abiotic factors is a prerequisite. Benthic fauna lying on the riverbed serves as a food source for fish, larger insects, birds, etc. Nowadays, most freshwater bodies are getting polluted through various anthropogenic activities like mining, land-use practices (fertilizers and insecticides), industrial effluent, and sewage inlet. Due to the water contamination, there have been observed changes in the physicochemical parameters of the water. The macroinvertebrate species being sensitive to these changes play an important role not only in determining the health of the water body but also in regulating the ecosystem. After review, it was observed that order like Diptera dominated in various locations, comprising of family Ceratopogonidae and Chironomidae, followed by order Trichoptera and Coleoptera. Species belonging to family Baetidae and Chironomidae possess pollution tolerance capabilities; additionally, these species can survive at a wide range of temperatures. Species from families such as Simuliidae showed their existence at varying water velocities.
